

Making the Game Safer With Sway Medical

Sway Medical is the premiere provider for baseline, medical balance and reaction testing. All available on the device you already own.

We help make certain that your kids are protected against returning to play too soon following a concussion. You can feel great knowing there is an extra layer of protection provided from the objective data collected by Sway Medical.

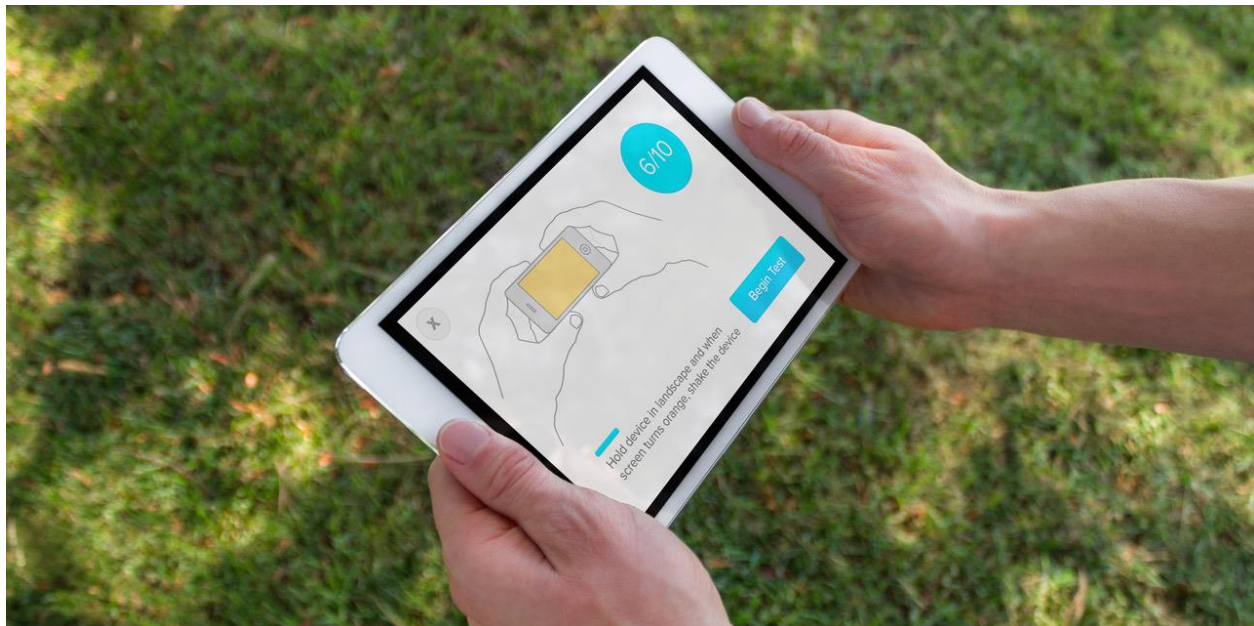

The Sway Medical platform is supported by a certified quality system for mobile medical device applications, engaging a dynamic, state-of-the-art software development process.

Through Sway, you and your team can:

- Administer objective tests in any environment on your mobile device
- Perform balance, reaction and baseline tests at the tip of your fingers
- Receive in-depth reporting with dynamic digital or printed reports of each patient
- Perform rapid tests with an average time of two minutes each

Sway's mission is to provide better care with less effort. Allowing for in-depth accurate testing and a safe return to play. Start using Sway today.
